ell, here we are back at the seaside (my very favourite place) with windswept hair and rosy cheeks and fish and chips to look forward to for supper! The sea is rippled calm and a gentle breeze is softly rustling through the mar-ram grass on the sand dunes just behind us. The sun has made a rare and welcome appearance (this is England after all) and the children are happily playing. Sail boats are bobbing gently on the sea swell and all is well with the world. This is the hearty good wishes life!
